

PreLiteracy.com Terms of Use

Required

Agreement to our Terms of Use is necessary for downloading and printing the free resources available on this site. Basically, the speech cue cards, sample booklets, and other activities may be used by anyone for educational or therapeutic purposes. The resources may not be sold under any circumstances, and you must not charge any fees for their use other than your typical fee for a therapy or tutoring session. The copyrighted information must be displayed intact as it appears online.

Suggested

Teachers, tutors and therapists using these resources in academic and clinical settings are encouraged to provide an extra copy of materials for the child to use at home. If you are a professional, explain to the child's parents how you are using the materials and what they can do for home practice, so the child will have the best chance of generalizing new skills.

Thank you for making an important difference in the life of a child!

For speech-language services and multi-sensory reading intervention in the Dallas area, visit our sister site DallasReading.com

PreLiteracy.com Terms of Use

Written by Rachel Betzen - Last Updated Tuesday, 05 June 2012 16:37

Dallas Reading and Language Services

Rachel Betzen MA, CCC/SLP

www.DallasReading.com

rbetzen@dallasreading.com

(214) 274-7455